Reds Open Up Berlin Wall
Thousands Cross Over

BERLIN (AP)—Thousands of happy West Berliners streamed into the Soviet sector today to visit relatives after the Communists opened the Berlin wall for the second time in three years.

A few hours after Red guards raised the candy-striped steel barriers and unlocked the steel gates, the official East German news agency reported that 8,000 West Berliners had crossed over.

Czechs Accused Of Inciting
Bloody Uprising In Bolivia

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—Bolivia broke relations with Communist Czechoslovakia Thursday night, accusing it of inciting rebellion after new skirmishes in the capital killed at least three persons and wounded 23.

The government accused the Czechoslovak embassy of supplying arms to student and miner rebels who have staged uprisings in wide areas of Bolivia.

Quiet was restored in La Paz today and government troops were in firm control of Oruro, a city proclaimed the capital of rebellion by miners and students opposed to President Victor Paz Estenssoro. Oruro is 143 miles south of La Paz.

European Reds Fall In Line
With New Leaders In Kremlin

MOSCOW (AP)—European Communist parties are falling into line behind the new Soviet leadership, apparently accepting Kremlin explanations that Nikita Khrushchev was removed for bungling in the Cuban crisis, the rift with Peking and an assortment of other failures.

Official Kremlin statements on Khrushchev's removal are couched in general terms, but Communist sources said a document containing 20 charges—including those on Cuba and Red China—is being circulated in Soviet Communist party units.

The Hungarian Communist party was the first to endorse Khrushchev's removal, declaring last Sunday that he had made "regrettable mistakes."

Elusive Escapee Surrenders
To Vancouver Newspaperman

VANCOUVER (CP)—Convicted rapist Larry Kanester surrendered to a newspaperman Thursday night, then meekly allowed himself to be taken back to the mental hospital from which he had escaped Sept. 2.

Kanester's surrender to City Editor Bruce Larsen of the Vancouver Sun came only a short time after he had eluded police by a matter of seconds.

And Wednesday he evaded two police stalkers after boasting that he could not be caught.

He had been object of a search since he escaped from the British Columbia government hospital at Esquimalt, 40 miles east of here, Sept. 2 with two other girls who were forced to drive one of the escapees to Vancouver at knife point. The two others have been recaptured.

Erwin Swangard, managing editor of the Sun, said Kanester protested in talks with Larsen his innocence of charges of raping two Victoria university girls last January for which he was serving two consecutive 10 year sentences.

He was sentenced June 13

Many Offers But No Takers
For Keating-Kennedy Debate

NEW YORK (AP)—There were plenty of offers but no takers today in the off-camera debate over face-to-face debates between Republican Senator Kenneth B. Keating and his Democratic challenger, Robert F. Kennedy.

The latest challenge came early today from Kennedy, who said he'll be campaigning in Westchester and Rockland counties tonight and Keating can join him there if he wants a debate. Kennedy did not mention television.

Thursday night, Keating bought an hour of local television time for tonight at a reported cost of $10,000 and challenged Kennedy to appear. Kennedy refused, saying he did just that Tuesday night, but was barred from the studio. Keating said Kennedy had not accepted in time.

Meanwhile, Kennedy also challenged Keating to state by 7:30 p.m. whether he will accept or reject what Kennedy called the support of James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, and also the responsibility for what he called a "vicious pamphlet."

Kennedy said Hoffa "is sending a great amount of money, manpower and scurrilous, hate literature into the state of New York in support of your candidacy."

CHALLENGES KENNEDY
In challenging Kennedy to a TV debate, Keating said he would accept any format desired.

An hour later, Kennedy told reporters, who asked if he would accept, that he was scheduled to campaign in Rockland and Westchester counties north of New York city.

"If he wants to debate, let him debate an empty chair," Kennedy said, referring to Keating's Tuesday night paid telecast in which he used an empty chair as a prop.

Commonwealth Troops End
Brief Invasion By Indonesia

SUNGEI RAMBAI, Malaysia (AP)—Indonesia's latest invasion of the Malaysian mainland collapsed today when 25 shaven guerrillas surrendered less than 36 hours after they landed.

A strong Commonwealth task force hunted for a half dozen other guerrillas still believed at large from a force of 36 men who landed by boat Thursday near this village on Malaysia's northeast shore.

The guerrillas emerged from the swampy jungles with no resistance after being pinned down by British, Australian and New Zealand troops.

Malaysian police rounded up 25 other invaders Thursday.

It was Indonesia's third raid of the mainland since August. Only three days ago Malaysia had broken the back of the other two raids.

A foreign ministry spokesman said Malaysia planned to protest to the United Nations, Australia, whose troops went into action against the Indonesians for the first time, said it would report the action to the international organization.

Ex-Mayor Of Saigon Named
To Succeed Premier Khanh

SAIGON (AP)—Tran Van Huong, former mayor of Saigon, was named today to succeed Maj.-Gen. Nguyen Khanh as premier despite ill health which hampered his work as mayor.

Huong, 60, said he planned to name Dr. Nguyen Luu Vien, Khanh's uncle, as deputy premier and defence minister. His other cabinet places were not certain.

Huong's appointment by the new chief of state, Phan Khanh Sui, must be confirmed by the 16-member high national council responsible for setting up a new government.

Because of Khanh's relationship to Vien, there could be strong opposition to Vien's being named defence minister.

TRAN VAN HUONG
... to be confirmedAlmost All MPs Send Up Cry:
"We Can't Go On Like This"

OTTAWA (CP)—We can't go on like this, almost without exception this was the cry from members of Parliament as the flag committee gave birth in a swirl of political controversy to a new design for a Canadian flag—a single red maple leaf on a white background with a vertical red bar at each side.

In most cases the widespread pessimism seemed to mean that another federal election cannot be far off. January of 1965 were the months on which the flag committee's report was introduced in the Commons by committee chairman Herman M. Bateman. —Humber—St. George's—was accompanied by two politically important developments.

In one, Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, who had rejected the flag committee's report, immediately served notice that he will propose a private member's bill to amend the flag act, thus making the Commons' deliberations a further effort was forecast for today.

The significance of such a move lay in the fact that motions of this kind are debatable and take precedence over all other business.

Interim Supply Authority Vital
If Government To Meet Payments

This precedence of debate extends to the government request for spending authority to pay November and December bills. The Conservatives have forecast a long debate on this interim supply request, now before the Commons.

It is estimated the government must have this authority by Nov. 10 if it is to meet payrolls and contract payments due Nov. 15. Without Commons renewal of its spending authority, the only other way for the government to get funds would be to send Parliament home and pass a governor-general's warrant for the money as has been done in the past.

The Commons flag design was accompanied by a separate committee recommendation that the government take steps to make the Union Jack the symbol of Canada's Commonwealth connection.

This, too, prompted political repercussions. Creditable MPs vowed to oppose it. Reid Scott, the New Democratic member of the flag committee, said he plans to move that the Jack be replaced by the Red Ensign.

One Conservative, who declined to be quoted, charged that the Liberal members proposed the Red Ensign at a night sitting and the following day Liberals moved the amendment for the Union Jack, thus making the Commonwealth flag recommendation conform to the original proposal of the government last May.

The Conservatives abstained on grounds there must have been tampering overnight, the Conservative said.

Deachman Affair Thought Likely To Come Up For Airing In House

Liberal MPs were summoned to a closed-door caucus meeting today, mostly as a result of opposition among government supporters to the Union Jack recommendation. The Deachman affair also was expected to get an airing in caucus room privacy.

Meanwhile, Prime Minister Pearson invited leaders of the other four parties in the Commons to a conference Monday morning to discuss Commons procedure on the flag report.

There were rumblings on the opposition side of the Commons that an effort will be made to force an early debate on the flag if there was an attempt to put it off for long. There are pro and con precedents as to whether this could be done.

Meanwhile, all the government's legislative program remained in suspense. It has promised to get the Canada pension plan legislation into the Commons before the year's end. And spending programs of all except seven departments for the current year remain unapproved.

A variety of other important legislation also rests at various stages—redistribution, a new labor code, a bill on ownership of Canadian insurance companies, a voluminous bill on transportation.

These and other measures would be a full bill of fare even without such problems as interim supply and the flag committee report.

PROBE BOUGHT
OTTAWA (CP)—Grant Deachman, Liberal MP under fire in the Commons for breaking secrecy on the flag committee's recommendations, asked today for a special inquiry into the matter by the Commons privileges committee.

Mr. Deachman, MP for Vancouver Quadra and a member of the Commons flag committee, made a brief statement on a question of privilege as the Commons met.

He said that in view of the fact that an article by him and been published before the committee's report was made to the Commons and that his actions had been attacked by the Opposition, he requested that the whole matter be referred to the Commons privileges committee.

Political Time Bomb Ticks On Interim Supply Bill

OTTAWA (CP)—A political time bomb is ticking away as the Commons enters the sixth day of tense debate on interim supply today.

Unless the measure is passed within a few days, the government will run out of spending authority to pay its employees and ordinary bills and a winter election will become almost inevitable.

Robarts Gives Details Of Plan For $50 Million Medicare

TORONTO (CP)—A $50-million program to provide expanded medical, dental and nursing training facilities in Ontario was announced Thursday by Premier John Robarts. The premier said an additional $50,000,000 to assist and verify teaching hospitals will be spent during the next five years. The program calls for the establishment of a medical school at McMaster University in Hamilton, a dental school at the University of Western Ontario in London, and the expansion of medical facilities at University of Toronto and Queen's University in Kingston. The hospitals affected by the program are at the University of Ottawa, Toronto, Queen's and Western. Education Minister William Davis, who is also minister of university affairs, said the $50,000,000 represents only capital construction costs. No target date was set for completion of the four construction programs, but university officials indicated the facilities should be in full operation between 1968 and 1970. The program, designed to offset the growing shortage of qualified personnel in the medical and dental professions in the province, will train about 900 additional medical students and 400 dentistry students. Mr. Davis said at present there are about 2400 medical students and 500 dentistry students registered in Ontario universities. Three regional nursing schools to accommodate 100 students each are planned but the locations have not been decided, the premier said. He said it has been estimated nursing schools in the province will have to graduate 5,000 registered nurses a year by 1969. He also announced the establishment of a planning council on nursing education to report to Health Minister Matthew Dymond.

Businessman Sent For Trial In Quebec Perjury Charge

QUEBEC (CP) — Amadee Bellemare, 45, a Shawinigan businessman, today was sent to trial on two more charges of perjury involving accusations made against Attorney-General Rene Hamel. Bellemare previously was sent to trial at the next criminal session on two other charges of perjury and one of attempting to corrupt Mr. Hamel when he was labor minister in 1960. The five charges were placed following a meeting of the legislature's committee on privileges and elections last July to investigate an accusation by Yves Gabias, Union Nationale member for Trois-Rivieres, against Mr. Hamel, member for Shawinigan. Mr. Gabias had said Mr. Hamel accepted $1,500 from Bellemare to use influence to get the Bellemare firm a roads contract. The committee heard witnesses, including Bellemare, then dismissed the accusation. Mr. Gabias was then suspended from the legislature for three years. Today's preliminary hearing involved two charges that Bellemare, defended by Mr. Gabias, perjured himself before the legislative committee.

Church Of Rome Said Veering On Course Of Birth Control

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Roman Catholic Church was seen today as embarking on a transition course in its approach to birth control.

Theologians attached to the Vatican ecumenical council, where debates are deep in debate on marriage problems and other modern world issues, said a definite shifting of ground was coming in the church's traditional outlook on the sexual side of marriage.

Few were willing, however, to predict how soon and how far Catholic theology would be altered. "We are in a stage of transition, and all the problems of such a stage surely exist," said Rev. Arthur McCormack of Belgium's Louvain University, a moral theologian specializing in world overpopulation and hunger problems. "A poor couple that is sin-

Epoch Ends at Hospital As Miss Grigg Retires

An epoch in the life of Kelowna General Hospital, marked by the familiar figure of Miss Grigg, ends today.

After 35 years and six months service to the people of Kelowna through the hospital, Miss Grigg is completing her last day on duty.

She has been a fine, loyal servant, said C. F. Lavery, hospital administrator since 1948. She has that cheerful touch that gives an institution confidence and she extends that attitude to the family as well.

We will miss her, greatly, he said.

PART OF HOSPITAL

Dr. Peter Humeau, secretary of the hospital medical staff, said Miss Grigg was part of the hospital as most doctors in the area know it.

"The place would be the same without her," he said. "She was a wonderful person in the operating room. She had wonderful ideas and a different attitude. She never became rattled and was a tremendously steady influence in the high tension of that area."

Her duties to children patients were an important part of her life. She was in contact with them in the hospital and in the community.

TOOK OVER

A nurse who has experienced everything with treatment given to patients while she was there, said today, "I always looked at Miss Grigg as the one who took over the hospital. You felt nothing mattered any more. Miss Grigg was there and would make sure you received the treatment you needed, as well as the best possible care."

Miss Grigg was born in British Columbia on Oct. 27, 1904. Her parents moved to Hanley, B.C., where she was born and lived there for three years. In 1911 she came to Kelowna.

Miss Grigg came to Kelowna in 1920 and worked for 15 years at the hospital. She was an only child.

STARTED SCHOOL HERE

She started school in Central elementary and received all her schooling there. The school was made a high school about the time she graduated from the lower grades.

One of her teachers at that time was Mrs. S. M. Simpson, who taught home economics. She was to run into her again in 1952.

Miss Grigg entered nursing training at Kelowna General where she took her first two years and then finished the final year of the course at Vancouver General.

She finished her training on a Sunday and the following Wednesday came to Kelowna General on a temporary basis, but has been here ever since.

She initially substituted for the maternity ward supervisor, then for the surgery supervisor, and then was made night supervisor. She has also been the hospital's X-ray technician.

OPERATING ROOM

For eight months in 1939 she was in charge of the whole hospital nursing staff and then spent 16 years as supervisor of the operating room.

When the emergency ward was first set up, she was placed in charge of that, her final position with the hospital.

During her training period one of her instructors was Mrs. S. M. Simpson, who taught the operating room. We used to have to

S. M. Simpson Ltd. is sponsoring a forest trip for members, clearing strip logging, and natural beauty of the Kelowna Chamber regeneration.

Mr. Marshall said today he had been asked to attend the meeting, but he was disappointed in the subject discussed.

The members present were more interested in roadside fruit stand prices, he said.

Mr. Marshall is chairman of the central district council and also president of the Winfield local of the B.C.F.A.

He is known as one of the larger fruit growers in the valley.

He told the Pentiction meeting Sun-Hype had changed apple prices on the United States market.

This "dumping" was reported in The Daily Courier last May and at that time H. P. Walcott of Sun-Hype explained the plan.

Today Mr. Walcott said some members of B.C.F.A. had found Sun-Hype guilty of dumping before even the United States government had done so.

This matter was reported at growth meetings and in the press at the time, said Mr. Walcott.

A total of 155,000 cases had been exported to the U.S. and the shipment was halted when.

It was a much larger program than the one envisaged at the time, he said.

Mr. Marshall said there is nothing in the department's early approval.

Criticism Levelled At Management Policies of B.C.T.F.

HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

Painting Plastic Tiles Usually Found Difficult

QUESTION: We have plastic tiles in our bathroom. This must first be cleaned in order to get a good paint job. I have tried to clean them with a lot of water and soap, but they are still dirty. Can you help me?

ANSWER: Painting plastic tiles is usually found difficult. The first step is to clean the tiles thoroughly. Use a strong detergent and scrub the tiles with a stiff brush. Rinse them well with water. Then, use a mild acid solution to remove any remaining dirt or soap. Rinse again and dry the tiles completely before painting.

Great Work Of Art For Home "Wedded" By New York Expert

NEW YORK AP: Between the two women, the artist and the decorator, the home is a work of art. The artist, Betty Parsons, and the decorator, Mrs. Parsons, have "wedded" their talents to create a home that is a masterpiece of art and design.

Betty Parsons, a leading abstract painter, has decorated her home with her own art. The home is a masterpiece of art and design, with every room reflecting her artistic vision. Mrs. Parsons, a decorator, has worked with Betty to create a home that is both functional and beautiful.

The home is a masterpiece of art and design, with every room reflecting the talents of both women. The living room is a masterpiece of art, with a large abstract painting by Betty Parsons as the centerpiece. The kitchen is a masterpiece of design, with a modern and functional layout. The bedrooms are masterpieces of comfort and style, with a mix of modern and traditional decor.

LIGHT LAUNDRY

The laundry has been a traditional dark corner of the home, and the time has come when it should be brightened. Light laundry is a new trend in home design, where the laundry room is made to be bright and cheerful. This can be achieved by using light-colored walls, bright lighting, and a clean, modern design.

What's New Under Sun?

By DON PELLETIER, President Housefurnishings Guild of Canada

The sun is shining so much, it's time to think about what's new under the sun. In the world of home furnishings, there are many new trends and styles that are catching the eye. From modern and minimalist designs to traditional and classic styles, there is something for everyone. The key is to find a style that fits your home and your taste.

Budgeting For a Home Must Be Carefully Done

How much of your salary or income should you normally spend on your home? As a general rule, a family can safely budget between 25 per cent and 30 per cent of its income on housing. Families who live in rented accommodation sometimes go beyond this figure, but it is not always considered wise to do so. Of course, each family must take into account its particular living and spending habits. What will suit one family may mean hardship to another. Families who purchase a new home with the help of an NHA loan are advised not to spend more than 25 per cent of their income on the purchase of their home and property taxes combined. There may be exceptions to the rule as in the case of those just at the beginning of their career who can expect a substantial increase in earnings. But money is a precious commodity that should be handled carefully. Budgeting is essential for most families when buying a home. Monthly payments have to be met on time just like rent. It is also wise to have a reserve set aside to meet unexpected situations. When you purchase a home, you are making a long-term investment. It is important to make sure that you can afford the payments and that the home is a good investment for you.

made from a builder. One of the reasons for this is that there are not many remaining serviced lots in the larger urban areas on which an individual owner can have a house built. But there are also other reasons. The purchaser can see what he is buying when he visits the builder's model home. He knows just how much it is going to cost him and this will probably be less than if he had a house built to order. There is much less paper work involved than if you build your own home. Furthermore, it means the family will probably be able to move into the house much sooner than if it had been contracted out. One of the disadvantages when buying from a model home is that though there is usually a wide variety of models to choose from in most subdivisions you may not always be able to buy exactly the type of house you want in the location you prefer. In any case, make sure that you get your home from a builder who has established a favourable reputation in the community. This is your best guarantee of satisfaction later on.

After All That Trouble, Work Room Still Not Satisfactory

By DON PELLETIER, President Housefurnishings Guild of Canada

One of the most common complaints I hear from women who have decorated their own home is that despite the fact they have achieved good color balance, that everything seems to be right, that they have done everything that they were told to do to make the room a better place, they end up with an unsatisfactory room. Why? Probably because they have forgotten one of the most important of three major elements in decorating—texture (the other two are color and scale). Texture can even make a one-color room interesting. A certain texture on the carpet, a certain texture on the walls, and different textures on the furniture can give the room a sense of depth and even in some instances, change the color of a certain piece of material.

on at least one edge of the mirror. Sometimes the use of shelves across a mirror, especially across shelves with ornaments or various collectors' pieces, can give not only more scale and scope to the appearance of the collection itself, but also add a texture to the mirror. Another intriguing texture is wood, or wood paneling. Wood can do very much to increase warmth in a room, and of course its texture can't be improved upon. Ordinary apartments take shape quickly with one wall paneled in either beautiful wainscot or oak or cherry. With materials such as are now available, especially high quality plywood with print finishes, it has become easy and inexpensive to do this.

TORY WITH WHIG IDEAS NEEDED

Provinces "Should Be States"

MONTREAL (CP)—"We need Tory leaders with Whig ideas," said the stocky financier, giving his swivel-seat a no-nonsense whirl as he learnedly paraphrased Disraeli. Marcel Faribault sat in the deserted office of the trust company he heads and spoke with bilingual gusto about Canada's future and the future of his native Quebec.

His staff had long since left for the day but the 56-year-old Mr. Faribault talked on tirelessly to a reporter in the manner that won him the attention of Progressive Conservatives at their recent Fredericton conference on national goals.

A Conservative himself, he has never sought political office. He may still take the plunge, however, and the party would have in its Quebec camp a forceful sophisticated who wants a decentralized federal system for Canada and less reliance on government in the tackling of economic problems.

While he thinks Quebec, and the other provinces, should have greater constitutional powers, Mr. Faribault has no time for separatism, which he considers economically unfeasible.

Of the young separatists in Quebec, he says: "Put them to work and they'd soon get to know hard, dollar realities."

and can sometimes drift away from life's realities. Then Mr. Faribault voiced other opinions, just as strong as his political views but a little more abstract. There was the problem of translating works of literature, for example, and why such rendering of St. John of the Cross and Cervantes was easier 300 years ago than today.

Talk of the French poet Paul Valery and the philosopher Jacques Maritain followed, with added comment that artists and thinkers are as much grist to the businessman's mill as they are food for academic speculation.

"Quote Mill or Burke to a businessman and he'll probably tell you it's marvellous, common-sense stuff. Tell him who said it and he'll accuse you of idealism. The thing is never to mention names."

Mr. Faribault himself turns high-sounding in the most unlikely places.

In his 1963 report to the shareholders of Trust General, he remarked: "Created in the image of God, man wishes himself to be in some way a creator and will ever seek the means to become so."

"A moderate capitalism remains one such means, especially through the very modern form of capitalism which called a company or a corporation."

TOUGH FOR TORIES
At Fredericton he presented a sample preamble for a draft constitution for Canada that would grant each province "all the powers, rights and prerogatives of a state" except for "matters and powers hereby conferred exclusively in the federal government."

Marcel Faribault would claim for his draft that it derives its inspiration from the "hard, dollar" facts of life. For him, a grasp of these realities is the hallmark of a true Tory, while the term Whig signifies a taste for new ideas and a will to implement them.

But whether he enters active politics depends on how it will affect his wife and seven children, he says. "Their welfare comes first."

And then there are the prospects for the Conservatives in Quebec right now.

"Things look rather bad for them here at the moment, but one must think in terms of years. Maybe later things will be different."

real firm's president in 1955. General Trust, with a preponderance of French-speaking personnel, listed total assets under its control at the end of 1963 as $267,748,000. Its net profit for the year was $487,625—15 per cent higher than in 1962.

Mr. Faribault is also a director of Dupuis Freres department store in Montreal, Banque Canadienne Nationale, Bell Telephone Company of Canada and 10 other firms.

In 1960, John Diefenbaker appointed him to the Canada Council, and membership in several Quebec learned societies is further reflection of his intellectual interests.

He has written a book on notarial law and taught the subject at his alma mater, the French-language University of Montreal, also serving as the university's secretary-general from 1959 to 1955.

SEES EFFICIENCY
Mr. Faribault says it is business that has taught him an intolerance for what he calls "unreal and obsolete elements in the present constitution of Canada. And he believes most Quebecers are similarly 'hard-headed' about the constitution as about most other things, including separatism.

He has emerged a strong supporter of a strictly Canadian constitution not dependent on the Queen as a source of executive authority.

The place given the Queen in the current system is obsolete, he says, while the letter of the constitution vests more power in the federal government than circumstances now permit that government to exercise.

"The system doesn't work well, that's the important thing," he says, adding that purely practical considerations of efficiency have dictated his constitutional views.

Other provinces want changes too, he declares, but whenever Quebec voices such a wish, "prejudice" leads to hostile reactions among some English-speaking Canadians.

"Look here, governing a huge country like Canada is no job for pygmies. You can't rely on prejudices in ruling Canada."

"What's more, to me, demococracy is simply people locked to favour in discussion."

FAVORS ARISTOTLE
If one side demands too much of another—a surrendering of provincial rights, the death of a language—discussion becomes impossible and democracy collapses, he said, his voice echoing through the empty corridors of the 10-storey Trust General building.

He traced Quebec's current demands for constitutional changes back to the government of Maurice Duplessis, who died in 1959.

But, his eyes fired up behind unrimmed glasses, the versatile financier ranged much further afield in tracing the theoretical roots of what he called "true federalism."

Quoting chapter and verse, he cited the political readings of a lifetime—Locke, Burke, de Tocqueville, Montesquieu and a variety of other idea-makers, British and French.

Then there was Aristotle, ancient prophet of the "realism" Mr. Faribault says he prefers to the "idealism" of another Greek, Plato.

Thoughts of Aristotle brought on a paean to private property and this in turn brought up the question of young separatists.

'NEVER MENTION NAMES'
"Aristotle says that under a system based on private property things get cared for better and people are kept busy enough not to be able to indulge in excessive discussions and dreaming."

Education has a rightfully prominent place in Quebec's development, he said, but education by itself is not enough

DIRECTOR OF BELLS
This scholarly bent also appears in the character of Marcel Faribault, trained though he was to be a practising notary. So talk of Disraeli, the 19th-century British prime minister, comes easily to the voluble man of affairs.

It was in 1946 that he joined Trust General du Canada as a director, becoming the Mont-

Campus Militia Cutbacks "Not Able To Be Halted"

OTTAWA (CP)—A bid by the National Conference of Canadian Universities and Colleges to delay proposed national defence cutbacks of campus militia units has failed, the conference's executive director said today.

G. C. Andrew told reporters after the conference's annual meeting ended of the failure to have the proposed cuts delayed and reduced.

Delegates had just approved a resolution expressing regret that the drastic cutback "took place before the needs of the campus units could be assessed."

The defence department had been asked to make a thorough study during the academic year of the role of militia units on the campuses and "to consult with the universities regarding any proposed program and its implementation."

The conference's military studies committee had recommended to Defence Minister Hellyer in June.

—Selected units be closed down and third-year training be restricted.

—Funds for the program be about $2,000,000 for 1965-66 instead of $1,400,000 as proposed in the cutback.

—Quotas for 1964 be reduced as little as possible.

Mr. Andrew said a special committee was asked Mr. Hellyer recently to "phase" the changes over, postponing full effect of the cutback until a "comprehensive long-term program" could be worked out.

The minister "sympathized" with the proposal but "felt the cuts must be made as announced." The previous total of 960 militia students will be cut to 500.

Dr. J. A. Corry, principal of Queen's University, was elected conference president and chairman of its secretariat, the Canadian Universities Foundation. He succeeds Major. Irene Lister, rector of the University of Montreal.

Others elected to the conference's executive committee include: Dr. J. B. Macdonald, president of the University of British Columbia and Prof. W. J. Wadsworth, vice-president of the University of Manitoba.

Modern Beat Handed Blame

NOTTINGHAM, England (Reuters)—Dr. Ronald Sprenger, school medical officer, today blamed modern music for increased sexual activities among teen-agers.

Describing the effects of rock 'n' roll music in his annual report, Sprenger said it is "obviously eroticogenic—as one can note in any gathering of girls when one of the many beat (rock 'n' roll) groups is in full session."

He suggested the mass hysteria leads to a loss of consciousness among teen-agers and "lack of thought for their immediate welfare."

Both Kelowna Grid Teams Clash In Football Action

Immaculate Dons will meet the Kamloops Red Devils Friday night, and Kelowna Cubs meet the Vernon Panthers on Saturday afternoon in weekend Okanagan Mainline High School football action.

The cellar-dwelling Dons will meet the Red Devils at 8 p.m. in Elks' stadium.

Game starting times have been moved up to 8 p.m. from 8:30 p.m. because of the colder weather.

"The Red Devils will be meeting us at our healthiest point all this season," said Don Coach Dave Sparrow. "With only three men out with injuries, the least we've had out all season, I'm sure victory will be ours."

Kelowna Cubs clash with the Panthers Saturday afternoon in Polson Park in Vernon.

The Cubs, fresh from last weekend's 23-0 drubbing of the Oroville Hornets, will be vying for first place. Panthers are now in first place, but either a win or tie would put Kelowna on top.

Buckaroos Win Means Tie For 1st

Kelowna Buckaroos take on the league leading Kamloops Rockets tonight in the Kelowna Memorial Arena, at 8:30 p.m.

If the Bucks win tonight's game they will be tied for first with the Rockets whereas a loss would mean trailing them by four points.

Rockets have retained some of their big guns from last year, including Terry Shishido, OJHL scoring leader. With Terry is his brother Eric who is on the defensive line.

As well as the Shishido brothers Ed Begg, Harvey Budrick, Ken Renaldi and Dale Sandtyke will be with the squad tonight.

"Kamloops has always been a powerhouse," said Bob Giardano, Bucks' general manager. "They have lost six of their major men from last year, and tonight's game will see what they have replaced them with."

Kelowna will travel to Kamloops tomorrow night to meet the Rockets in the Kamloops Memorial Arena.

COACH BOB SCHULTZ ... looking forward

"It will be a tight ball game and I'm sure we can hold their scoring down," said Coach Bob Schultz of the Cubs. "We're a little worried about our offence, but we have added a few alterations and if there go we'll have no trouble at all."

"We're hurting a little in our interior line with Pugliese and Wallace out with ankle injuries. Wallace may dress but I don't know as yet," said Coach Schultz.

"Armeneau has been resting all week with a groin pull, but will be in good shape for the game," continued Coach Schultz. "The boys are looking forward to this one."

"It will probably be a ground game for both of us, and I'm sure we'll come out on top," Coach Schultz concluded.

EFC Final Battles "Nothing Games"

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Though fans and some players have come to view games played late in the season when final standings have been decided as "nothing" games, Frank Clair of Ottawa Rough Riders couldn't agree less.

There isn't any question left as to who the Eastern Football Conference champions are, but there's still a tough playoff set to get through and Clair, Ottawa coach, is hoping to hone his sizzling Riders back into winning form Saturday when they meet the Argonauts in Toronto.

Ottawa is firmly in second place behind Hamilton Tiger-Cats while Toronto is just as firmly in last place behind Montreal Alouettes.

"I don't think there is such a thing as a nothing game," said Clair Thursday in an interview.

"We can't exactly plan for the next game in the one against Argos, but we'll have that in mind."

"The next game" is the sudden-death Eastern playoff semifinal against Montreal Nov. 7 in Ottawa to decide which team enters the two-game, total-point final with Hamilton starting Nov. 14 in Ottawa.

The Riders have lost their last three games, two to Hamilton and the last to Montreal, and Clair is hoping to reverse this trend Saturday.

Lions Troubles Home and Away

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Player trouble at home and abroad rocked B.C. Lions' camp as the Western Football Conference entered the final week-end of the regular league schedule.

The Lions, who need a tie against last-place Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the last regular-season game Sunday at Vancouver, also have a tough injury problem.

Edmonton Eskimos travel to Regina for a game against third-place Saskatchewan Roughriders and besides a victory, the Riders hope more than 13,000 fans will cram tiny Taylor Field for the game and push the club's 1964 attendance above 130,000.

While the Eskimo-Riders game has little at stake except several individual marks, the B.C.-Winnipeg game is vital to the final league standings.

WANT FIRST PLACE

The Lions want a victory to clinch first place for the second consecutive season and gain a bye into the WFC's best-of-three final while the Bombers want to snap a record 12-game losing string. Calgary, which has completed its 16-game schedule, holds a one-point edge over second-place B.C.

The Lions' player troubles involve guard Willie Taylor, declared ineligible by commissioner G. Sydney Halter for further play with B.C. this season, and a suspended tackle Bill Frank.

Taylor was dressed by mistake Wednesday when the Lions fell 26-14 to Calgary. He replaced injured Tom Hinton.

General manager Herb Capozzi said it was an oversight. The Lions picked Taylor up from Saskatchewan as a free agent after Oct. 15 and players can not be signed by a club after Oct. 15 and used in the same season.

There was some question whether the Lions still have a contract binding on Frank as well as whether Frank's contract with San Diego was legal within the realm of the CFL.

B.C.'s injury problems included Hinton and defensive half Neil Beaumont, who also doubles as the club's punter.

Whether either would dress for the game against the Bombers was a question.

Winnipeg has had a 12-day rest since their last game.

The Regina game will not be televised, but Sunday's action at Vancouver, scheduled to start at 2 p.m. PST, will be carried on the Western leg of the CTV network.

Featherweight Wins Decision

MONTREAL (CP)—Dave Hilton, Canadian featherweight champion, won a unanimous 10-round decision Wednesday night over Harry Mason, Jamaica's featherweight champion, in a local boxing match.

Hilton, a Sherbrooke, Que., boxer who fights out of Montreal, dropped the Jamaican once in the third round and all but put him away for good in the final round before a slim crowd of about 300.

Mason, who had won his last previous 17 fights, 11 by knockouts, came on strong in the first round and again in the fourth but Hilton had the other eight rounds.

Hilton was in trouble only once, in the fourth round when the 19-year-old Jamaican opened up with a volley of punches that staggered him.

"Trading Post" This Saturday

The Ladies' Auxiliary to minor hockey will be holding a final swap and shop sale of hockey equipment, Saturday, between 1 and 3 p.m. in the Memorial Arena.

There are a number of skates that are too small for minor hockey players, and some other miscellaneous equipment that we would like to move, and finish off the month with," said Mrs. Homer Robinson.

The "Trading Post" will be to the right as you enter the Doyle avenue entrance.

The auxiliary will also be holding a general meeting Monday night in the Arena and all mothers interested in joining would be appreciated," said Mrs. Robinson.
